The situation to-night shows improvementon almost every side; teh waters are failing, the water works will resume operation to-morrow, the gas has been turned on to the mains once more, and there is no immediate danger of a serious shortage of food. The city has cared for its own and is abundantly able to do so still, but there is not sufficient food on hand to permit the Relief Committee and the municial officers to feel easy over the outlook. The transportation facilities at the present time are so limited that not much freight can be brought in at a time, and there is danger that the demand may outrun the supply.

TWO LIVES LOST.

Two men lost their lives to-day in the attempt to save others. J. S. Keenan was drowned while endeavoring to rescue some people from the Adams House, in Union Avenue, and Edward Brooks lost his life in Liberty Street, where his skiff was overturned by an eddy while he was endeavoring to get another man out of a building. A number of bodies were seen floating down the stream, believed to be those of people drowned further up the Kaw, probably at North Topeka.

lleved to be those of people drowned further up the Kaw, probably at North Topeka.

Fully fifty people were brought to the Twelfth Street viaduct during the day by boatmen. None of them had been in great danger. Many people are still in the warehouses and office buildings, and will remain there until the flood subsides. They are entirely safe and fairly comfortable.

There is very little probability of much greater financial damage than has already been done. There have been some reports of settling of various large buildings in the wholesale district, but they appear to have settled in a remarkably even manner, and expert examination will be required to prove that they are in a dangerous condition.

NIGHT OF SUFFERING.

The close of another day brought only another night of wretchedness to the thousands of refugees at Kansas City. Without water, save for urgent needs; without beds, the upper part of the town being unable to house in any comfort the hordes of refugees, to-night bids fair to be a repetition of others since the coming of the flood.

The wretchedness, however, is more mental than physical, although the discomforts due to berding large bodies of

It now seems that the death list will not be much short of one hundred, perhaps somewhat over a hundred, considering the number of dangerously wounded, whose chances for recovery cannot now be calculated. bravely and devotedly assisting in the work of relief.

The story of the storm's work of deso-lation has already been told. All that remains is the compilation of an accurate list of the dead and the chronicling of the burial of the victims. Figuring from all available sources and giving credence to those reports which are believed to be trustworthy, the following is a summary of the effects of the tornado in Gainesville and its environs:

THE STREET CAR MEN WILL MEET

Line of Action to Be Decided Upon After Midnight.

The meeting of Division 152 of the Amalgamated Association of Street Railway Employes, to be held at the conclusion of work to-night and at Sanger Hall, will be a very important one, and will disclose the next step to be taken in the negotiations between the employes and the management of the street railway. A crisis has now been reached in the negotiations, but the result will not necessarily be a strike. Some action will probably be taken by the division upon the answer of General Manager Huff, of the Virginia Passenger and Power Company, to the proposal from the employes that the matter of a general contract suggested by the men be submitted to arbiration. So far there has been no threat of a strike, but it is inferred that such a result will be inevitable unless some agreement can be reached in the next few days.

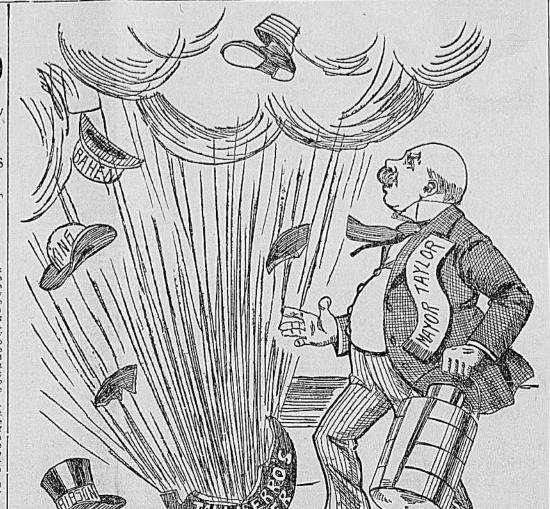

At iconight's meeting the annual elections of a strike and the sanual election. The meeting of Division 152 of the agreement can be reached in the next few days.

At io-night's meeting the annual election of officers of the division will be had, and at the conclusion of this, other business, which includes the negotiations between the employes and the company, will come up for consideration. Just what the next step to be taken by the men, will be is not intimated, and is largely a matter of conjecture. The men are maintaining a discreet silence as to their Intentions, if, indeed, they have yet been fully formulated.

There were absolutely no new developments in the local situation yesterday. Chairman W. J. Griggs, of the arbitration board of this division, returned yesterday from Petersburg, where he attended an early morning meeting of the division there.

At the meeting to-night it is expected that Mr. Orr, an official of the International Association of Street Railway Employes, will be present, and that his advice will have great weight with the organization. It is believed that a reply to the letter of General Manager Huff will be drafted at the meeting to-night, but just what proposition will be put forward is not stated. The meeting will begin about 1 A. M., and will continue two and possibly three hours.

PILOT LAWS INVOLVED.

The first involves the pilotage laws of Virginia, and is said to be the only case in Virginia ever before the Court of Appeals. Hon. R. C. Marshall, of Portsmouth; T. C. Brooke, of Norfolk, and Scnator John W. Daniel, of Lynchburg, all of whom are here, represent the plaintiff in error, and Mr. R. M. Hughes, of Norfolk, the defendant in error,

The second, Taylor vs. the Commonwealth, from the Circuit Court of Augusta county, involved the validity of the present Constitution. The plaintiff in error was convicted and sentenced to one year's imprisonment in the penitentiary upon his plea of guilty by the court, without the intervention of a jury.

CONSTITUTION ATTACKED.

The contention of the petitioner is that the present Constitution is a nullity because its ratification was not submitted to the people, and that the present organic law of the State is the Underwood Constitution of 1809, and second, that if the Legislature of Virginia, under the Constitution of 1899, could authorize the trial and sentence of petitioner by judge without the intervention of a jury, yet oven in that even no such statute had been enacted.

BETS MADE ON RESTLT HABEAS CORPUS HEARING

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
RALEIGH, N. C., June 2.—Justices R. M. Douglas and Platt D. Walker, presiding over the habeas corpus hearing in the Haywood case, announced from the bench at 1 o clock this afternoon that, owing to the necessity of a conference of the Supreme Court this afternoon on other matters, the announcement of their ruling in the Haywood matter would not be made until noon to-morrow. The time of the court was taken up to-day in hearing the conclusion of argument. Speeches for the prescution this morning were by W. E. Daniel and John E. Woodard, Colonel T. M. Argo closed for the defense.
The principal contention is over the right to grant hall after a grand jury has found a true bill, the State contending that it would be to invade the province of the trial jury. In rebuttal of this the defendant replies that the statute expressly empowered the justices to inquire into the facts on both sides, and if there is reasonable doubt of murder in the first degree they shall grant ball.

There is general expectation that ball will be allowed. Bets are being made at two to one and greater odds.

Main and Fifteenth Streets yesterday afternoon about 5:30 o-clock and severely injured.

Mrs. Lane, a little child and several friends came to the city yesterday on an excursion. She and a ludy attempted to cross Main Street, going towards the Main Street depot, when a Broad and Main car, No. 130, Motorman D. W. Redford in charge, came bowling along and struck her. Officers Werner and Mel. Folkes were near at hand and conveyed her into a place of business near by, and the ambulance was called. Dr. E. A. Turman was passing, and Sergoant Werner got him to come in also. Dr. Syclecame with the ambulance, and the surgeons found that their patient's arm had been fractured, probably a slight concussion of the brain, several cuts and bruises.

She was taken to the Virginia Hosultal. While her injuries were being treated Drs. Upshur and McLean came in and assisted.

"Two questions were under consideration by the meeting to-day—one is to make application to the national president of the mine workers to issue an order for a general suspension of work throughout the whole antiracite region to continue until the operators agree to adjust existing grievances and live up to the award of the Anthracite Coal Strike Commission: the second is that a delegate convention be called to consider the advisability of taking the above action."

Another meeting will be held to-morrow to decide as to whether a suspension of work will be ordered.

District Presidents Nichols, Dettrey and Fahy intimated to-night that the Executive Board of the mine workers will stand by their decision and will insist that the members on the conciliation board be recognized.

CLERK REMOVED FOR TRYING TO COLLECT CLAIM

Alderman James Bahen, of Jackson Ward, was the last of those named to speak out, for he was in Newport News on private business when the spectacular proceedings were sprung on the Council, the other night. Mr. Bahen hurried back to learn what it was all about, and talked freely concerning the Tallaferro letter when seen at his home last night.

There are very many interesting question as to the probable turn the investigation may take, and what will be the exact line of proceedure. Of course, in the embryo stage in which the matter now is nothing of a definite nature has been determined, and this will be true until the joint committees shall have been named. It is a matter of interesting speculation as to whether Judge Witt will turn over the record in the grand jury proceedings to the committee, according to the request in the Crenshaw resolutions, or whether he will simply give the City Attorney access to the important document.
